

VIRGINIA CONSORTIUM OF QUILTERS

January 2014 Volume 32 Issue 1

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT – Susan Price

Happy New Year! It's hard to believe its 2014 already. Those of you at the November meeting know we had a great time in Virginia Beach. 82 members and teachers joined us at the Virginia Beach Resort and Conference Center on the Chesapeake Bay for a fun day of workshops. It was a lovely, mild fall weekend (unlike the arctic cold we are experiencing now at the beginning of January) - and Sunday was a balmy 70 degrees! My friends and I enjoyed a little sight-seeing before heading back to Northern Virginia.

One thing I shared with those present was a summary of our 2013 VCQ Year in Review. It was enlightening to compile this information so I thought I'd recap here for those not at the meeting. Meeting attendance increased from 47 in Nov. of 2012 to 82 in Nov. of 2013. Membership at the end of 2012 was 275; at the end of 2013 it was 288, holding steady, but 75 of those were new members. Celebration registration is full and continues to be a sell-out event. Over the last 2 years, we have made and donated 826 pillowcases to foster children. During 2013 we offered 16 workshops and 2 lecture/trunk shows. Volunteers have documented over 600 quilts between June and December, with more dates scheduled in 2014. This November we will celebrate the 30th anniversary of VCQ. As you can see we continue to fulfill our purpose of encouraging quilt making, documenting quilts, providing community service, and uniting quilters in Virginia.

As we begin 2014, the board has had our annual retreat to plan activities and events for the year. Our quarterly March meeting is coming up and you will read all about it in this newsletter, followed by Celebration at the end of April, so we will not have another newsletter until June. Now's the time to start reviewing your Celebration brochure and getting things ready – class supplies, block lotto blocks, challenge entries (“Quilting is Timeless”), show & tell from past Celebrations, and silent auction items. I know that all of those things are on my ‘to-do’ list! (But I can't guarantee they will all get done!) Also, don't forget to get your final payment in that is due by March 1. The deadline for the Vi Virginia Consortium of Quilters

Graves Scholarship has been extended; read more about it with the Celebration information in this newsletter.

Later this year we will be celebrating the 30th anniversary of VCQ, so you can expect some special activities and surprises to mark that milestone. Betty will continue her membership referral incentive, and our theme this year is “Quilting...Pass It On” to the next generation of quilters. You will be able to help with our new community service project at our March meeting that we will work on for the next 2 years. We have decided to make comfort cushions with bags for mastectomy patients. The cushion is placed between the arm and torso to lessen direct pressure on the wound area. These cushions will be donated to hospitals and cancer centers throughout Virginia. We would love to have someone step up to chair this project.

We were saddened in November by the passing of charter member Charlotte Veregge; she will be greatly missed. VCQ will be making a donation to the Virginia Quilt Museum in memory of Charlotte, and I know that some of our members also want to make donations to VCQ in memory of Charlotte. We will accept those donations at meetings or via mail to the treasurer; the board will determine how best to use any donations that come in.

We still have a vacancy for area rep for the Roanoke area. Responsibilities include distributing brochures to shops in your area, promoting VCQ to your local guilds in whatever way works for you, and representing your area of the state at the quarterly board meetings. It's a good way to get involved without having a big responsibility.

Here's wishing you a productive and creative quilting year, and I look forward to seeing you in Kilmarnock in March!

Susan Price
President

VCQ General Meeting      Virginia Beach, VA
November 9, 2013

The meeting was held at the Virginia Beach Conference Center and called to order at 12:43 p.m. by Susan Price, President. Susan thanked the Tidewater Quilter's Guild for hosting the event. Susan welcomed everyone and 3 new members received gifts.

A motion was made and accepted to approve the minutes of the August 9, 2013 meeting which were posted in the September newsletter. Karin McElvein made the motion to accept the minutes, Sherry Whitford seconded.

Two thinking-of-you cards were passed around for members Charlotte Veregee and Karen Dumont. Susan announced that the fall quarterly report will be available soon for American Quilt Study Group's (AQSG) publication. The handout has information on accessing their website.

Susan passed on additional quilting news; a Michigan quilter won the tip prize ($200,000) in the ArtPrize contest. Member Nan Noose helped make a 19th century reproduction quilt that is on exhibit at The International Quilt Study Center & Museum in Nebraska. The original quilt was made from recycled clothing and a quilted petticoat. Reproduction clothing items were also made by the staff and volunteers of Colonial Williamsburg. Member Sherry Whitford was IQF in Houston when the Alzheimer's Quilt Initiative reached the $1 million mark in research fundraising.

Virginia Quilt Museum will host the Stargazing Exhibit thru December 14. The exhibit included star quilts from AQSG and museum collection; Online Silent Auction, Little Quilts, Big Talents thru December. Donate a star-shaped holiday ornament 5" or smaller for fundraising. The Virginia Historical Society will exhibit The Great Western Virginia Cover-Up: Historic Quilts and Bedcovers through January 5, 2014.

Susan read and presented an Annual Review of VCQ Activities. A handout was also given out to members.

Joan McGowan introduced the slate of officers for a vote by the membership; Fay Hannah – VP, Marty Green – Treasurer, and Betty Blessin – Membership. Nominations from the floor were also requested. The membership at the November meeting voted unanimously to approve the slate of officers. The Roanoke Rep position is still vacant.

Faye Hannah presented Treasurer Reports from January through October 2013. The checking account balance as of October 18 was $28,895.18. The money market balance was $10,370.70. Faye also presented the 2013 proposed/actual budget as of October 31.

Betty Blessin reported 283 members (71 new and 212 continuing) as of November. Member Debra Thompson won the New Member prize drawing. Karan Fisher gave an update on March meeting, Civil War block and Redwork.

The next newsletter deadline is January 17. Information can be sent to Heather Zavagnin. Also, a headcount was taken on those members seeing ad in Country Register.

Joan McGowan, Historian, reported on VCQ's 30th anniversary president's quilt display in November 2014, more information will be available in March.

Celebration was full in less than 2 weeks with 15 on the wait list. Items are needed for silent auction at Peddler's table. Kitty Bull presented the challenge of "Timeless Quilting" which includes time and quilting.

The meeting was adjourned at 1:33 p.m.

Respectfully submitted, Grey Castro, Secretary

VIRGINIA QUILT MUSEUM SPOTLIGHTS REGIONAL ARTISTS IN 2014

In 2014, walls of the Virginia Quilt Museum’s historic house will spotlight traditional along with contemporary quilted textiles, created in separate regions of the state.

QUILTS OF SOUTHWEST VIRGINIA: FROM BEDROOM TO BOARDROOM will open the museum’s season on Jan 14, 2014 with 3 traditional quilters (the “bedroom”) and 7 contemporary artists (“boardroom” pieces). This exhibit will feature examples of the best hand quilted and machine quilted art being made today in Virginia’s mountains.

Beautiful quilts have long been important to the cultural heritage of this region, but the public perception has been those quilts are purely functional rather than artistic. Guest curator Linda Fiedler of Meadows of Dan, Va. points out that this is a false perception. All the featured quilt makers in this exhibit have won awards for their art at shows at the regional and national levels. “Both traditional and studio art quilt styles can be artistically created yet functional,” states Fiedler, herself a nationally recognized quilt artist. Quilt lovers will be able to judge for themselves whether regional traditions and preferences influence working artists. The exhibit will be displayed Jan 14 - April 26, 2014.

Also starting in January, REMEMBERING ANNA: QUILTS BY ANNA HOLLAND. Quilter Anna Coe Dean Holland lived in the eastern part of Virginia when she started quilt guilds in the 1970s and began making quilt patterns. Her expertly-made quilts, especially elaborate applique, are cherished by her family and guild friends as legacies of Anna’s generous friendship and inspiration.

Contrasting the large traditional quilts of Anna Holland will be an exhibit of MINIATURE QUILTS BY KATHIE RATCLIFFE from Waterford, VA. She hand sews miniatures measuring 8” square, using new fabrics in traditional star and pieced patterns. Her quilts and prints are available through her website www.ninepatchstudio.com.

BEDROOM TO BOARDROOM:

Blue Star Museum, the Virginia Quilt Museum, designated Virginia’s official quilt museum, is located in Harrisonburg, VA, 130 west of Washington, DC. See www.vaquiltmuseum.org for events related to exhibits throughout the season.

Follow Facebook and Twitter for updates.

The museum is open Tuesday through Saturday, 10 am to 4 pm. Group tour rates are available.

About Your Teacher – Brenda Gerhart: After 30 years of quilting, I still feel like a kid at Christmas when visiting a fabric store. I am a member of the Uptown Quilt Guild in Warsaw, VA and I regularly teach classes at 2 B's Quilt Shop and Sew Happy fabric shop.

Workshop B: Reproduction Civil War Blocks Cot Quilt with Lisa House

Skill level: Beginner/Intermediate

Hand piecing workshop: Students will learn the traditional skills of hand piecing and quilting.

- Sharp Scissors
- Neutral color threads (beige, tan, greys, brown, black)
- Needles & straight pins

Fabric & Cutting:

For 1 block: Fabric #1 Dark or Medium – 1 square, 11" x 11"; cut into quarters diagonally to make 4 triangles
Fabric #2 Dark or Medium – cut into 2 5/8" x 9" rectangles (need 4 of these)
Fabric #3 Muslin – cut one 2 5/8" x 2 5/8" square
Batting – 14" square
Backing – 15" square coordinating fabric

About Your Teacher – Lisa House: I am a QUILTER. I am an expert at nothing, but a seeker of any and all needle crafts. My first quilt (1974) was a 9 patch with a sheet for the backing and tied with lovely yarn ties. I was very proud!! I discovered quilting on TV, then took classes, and joined guilds. Thank you, to all the wonderful teachers who have kept me on the lifelong quilting journey. When the VCQ published the Quilts of Virginia book, I bought it and poured through its incredible documentations, and rested on page 61. The "Tents of Armageddon" was a local quilt with rich history, and it began my reproduction path. I found that by recreating a quilt in the style of the past, I learned not only the time honored technique, but also the story of the quilt, and much about the time it was created. I am now a reproduction addict. I am a member of Stone House Quilters in Manassas, the Tavern Quilt Guild in Heathsville, and Greenwich Presbyterian Church Quilters in Nokesville. The Greenwich Presbyterian Church Quilters sponsor a community quilting event in the Manassas area each January where we complete 75-100 quilts in one day and this resulted in the group being awarded the Agnes L. Colgan Community Service Award in 2012. Lastly, I am married to a dairy farmer, have 4 children, 7 grandchildren and a room full of my addiction to fabric.

Workshop C: Introduction to Redwork with Nancy Street

Skill level: Beginner

Hand Workshop: This class will teach the most novice everything required from tracing the pattern, loading embroidery needle, loading the hoop, three main embroidery stitches required to complete the project, how to start and end stitching and since the pattern will already be traced on to the kit fabric more advanced folks can immediately start stitching.

Materials & Supply List:

A kit will be available for purchase from your instructor at a cost of $20.00. The kit will include everything needed to complete this class with the exception of the embroidery scissors & a thimble.

Full Supply List (only if not purchasing kit from instructor:)

Redwork pattern “The Quilting Friends” by Cathy Parker (www.quiltingbeedesigns.com) These will be available for purchase at your workshop for $9.00 plus shipping/tax.

- (1) fat quarter of white Kona cotton or similar
- (2) skeins of DMC embroidery thread #321
- (1) package of John James embroidery needles (No.9)
- (1) thimble IF you are accustomed to using one for hand work
- (1) 4-inch embroidery hoop
- (1) pair of embroidery scissors
- (1) red #.01 Pigma Pen or one red gel pen (to trace pattern onto fabric)
- (1) light box or sunny window (to trace pattern onto fabric)

If the kit is not purchased, it would be helpful to have the design already traced on the cotton before coming to your workshop since it takes some time to do this. A light table will be available otherwise.

About Your Teacher – Nancy Street: Born in Virginia, but raised in Southern Maryland. I raised two sons in Maryland and returned to Virginia after retiring from the Naval Air Station, Patuxent River, MD. I learned to embroider at my mother’s knee and started quilting after she passed away and left me with several UFOs in 1998.

Copyright Quiz for Quilters

What do you know about copyright as it applies to quilting? We discussed this topic at a recent board meeting and the board members thought it was an important topic to share with the VCQ membership. Take the quiz below to see how knowledgeable you are.

1. You have just been to the greatest quilt workshop where you learned lots of new ideas. You enthusiastically tell your friends about it, because they were disappointed they were not able to go. Do you :
  - a) offer to give them a lesson in the technique;
  - b) photocopy the class notes and patterns for them;
  - c) only tell them to sign up for the class next time.

2. The Quilt Show was wonderful, and you take photographs of all your favorite quilts. Does this infringe on copyright?
  - a) yes;
  - b) no, it was OK as there was no sign prohibiting photographs;
  - c) no, because quilts on public display can be photographed.

3. You find the pattern you want for your next quilt in a book. Do you :
  - a) photocopy the relevant section of the book;
  - b) photocopy the whole book, because it has lots of good patterns.
  - c) draw up the pattern yourself, following the design in the book.
  - d) purchase the book for your own use

4. You have just seen a quilt pattern in a magazine that you think your guild members would enjoy for their next block of the month. Do you :
  - a) photocopy the pattern and submit it to the newsletter;
  - b) redraw the pattern, and submit it;
  - c) do nothing because both of the above are breach of copyright.

5. You are planning to do some quilt teaching. The teacher who taught you was really excellent. Do you :
  - a) copy her teaching plans, notes, samples and quilts;
  - b) use the work of your teacher to help you, but you make your own notes, lesson plans and samples.
  - c) you try to teach as differently as possible from your teacher, to avoid copyright problems.

6. You have designed a quilt pattern which you market successfully. It is a "nice little earner" for you. In your will, do you ;
  - a) ignore it, because copyright of the pattern dies with you;
  - b) assign the copyright to a family member because if they own the copyright, then they may potentially benefit from it forever;
  - c) assign the copyright to a family member, because if they own the copyright, they can benefit from it for 70 years after your death, which is when copyright ceases.

This is a portion of the Copyright Quiz for Quilters; go to <http://www.quilt.com/FAQS/CopyrightFAQ.html> for additional questions.

Answers to Copyright Quiz

1. "Copyright does not protect ideas, concepts or schemes. Rather, it protects the manner in which the idea or information is expressed." Copyright does not protect techniques; thus, while you may verbally share with your friends what you did in a workshop (a), to photocopy the notes for them (b) is infringement of copyright. Your friends would be well advised to take the class anyway (c), recognizing that your explanation of the ideas will not be as complete as the original workshop, and of course this would entitle them to any notes, patterns, etc.
2. Craft work which is on temporary display may not be photographed without permission from the copyright owner. Taking photos of quilts without permission is an infringement of copyright (a). The fact that there is no sign does not necessarily mean you have permission (b), although it may if the exhibit organizers have asked exhibitors to allow photography as part of the conditions of entering the show, as many do. Always check with the organizers what the situation is, or ask specific permission of the quiltmaker. Because the quilts are on temporary exhibition (not permanent) they are copyright and thus (c) is incorrect.
3. Publication of a pattern usually implies that the reader is allowed to use the pattern for their own personal use (a), and many quilting books and magazines will contain a statement to this effect. Copying the pattern yourself rather than photocopying it is still copying (c), but is allowable for personal use, as for (a). Photocopying a whole book (b) is an infringement of copyright. Some libraries post signs over the copiers stating the copyright laws permit copying of up to one chapter, or 10% of a book for personal or research needs. It probably holds true elsewhere.
4. Photocopying and submitting a design from another publication (a) is an infringement of copyright. It would be permissible to redraw the pattern yourself (b), but only if it is a design already in the public domain, such as the Ohio Star, or one of the many traditional block designs. However, if the pattern is original to a particular person, then permission from the designer is necessary for it to be published.
5. Definitely not (a)! Basing your work on the ideas of others is permissible (b), but you must do all your own notes, samples, etc. We all learn from each other, so (c) is not realistic.
6. "Copyright generally lasts for 70 years after the end of the year the author died." After this time, the work is often said to be "in the public domain". Copyright is something owned, and therefore can be assigned to someone else, or inherited. Thus (c) is correct, but (a) is not, and (b) is not correct because copyright expires after 70 years from the death of the original author or creator.

Quilting & Copyright Information (sources below)

1. Work published prior to 1923 is in the public domain, which includes common quilt block designs; anyone can copy, use or sell these designs. A published pattern using a public domain block must be treated in a new way or with say, a new method of construction to be considered an original work. The copyright for directions and illustrations belongs to the author. Copyright is for the life of the author plus 70 years; for a work done anonymously, or if it was done for hire, its copyright protection lasts 95 years from the year of its first publication, or 120 years from the year of its creation, whichever is the earliest.
2. Fair use applies to using a small portion of a copyrighted work, as for review or commentary. Even if you meet all the requirements of the fair use test you still cannot copy and publish an entire pattern. (Publishing includes copying a pattern and sharing it with others.)
3. Even if you don't find information on a pattern about copyright, it is still protected. There is no requirement that something be filed with the copyright office or marked in anyway in order to be protected. As soon as it is created it is protected by copyright. The rights belong to the creator or the creator's employer or someone the creator has given them to.
4. If you are a quilt or pattern or fabric designer, it is not required that you formally protect your designs, but it makes it easier for you to protect your legal rights in the event of infringement. You can register with the copyright office at <http://www.copyright.gov/>; each registration costs $35 online. Registration creates a public record and is required before an infringement lawsuit can be filed. Even if you don't formally register an item, it is a good idea to include “©Jane Doe 2013” to remind people that your work is protected. (Only applies to the pattern, not items made from the pattern.)

5. Patterns available for download on the internet: some are available for free for your personal use. In this case, if you want to share a pattern with someone, direct them to the site to download the pattern. If a pattern is available for purchase on the web, each person who uses the pattern needs to purchase it. It is copyright infringement for one person to purchase and download a pattern, then make copies and distribute it.
6. Sharing patterns from books – we all share books and patterns with each other from time to time. If a friend borrows a book or you copy a pattern for someone, nothing will happen – unless of course you talk about it in a place or situation that calls your actions into question. However, if a pattern from a book is being used to teach a class or workshop, each student should be required to buy the book. It is copyright infringement to copy a pattern from a book and distribute it in a public forum.
7. Adapting a pattern in some way, (ie. changing its size or slightly modifying directions) does not give you a copyright – changes must be significantly different for it to be considered an original work.
8. Titles are not copyrighted.
9. You can copyright specific instructions and illustrations, but not an “idea” or “concept”.
10. If you want to use someone’s pattern to teach and can’t find it to purchase, contact the copyright owner & ask permission.
11. If you teach for quilts or shops, be aware that whatever you are teaching, either you own the copyright to the item or design, OR you must include purchase of the book or pattern in the supply list or as part of a kit fee if you as the teacher will provide the pattern. This would include internet patterns as well as paper patterns.
12. As a state organization we try to follow correct and ethical procedures regarding copyright.
